FUR.... WEATHER AT LAST

Some one said the other day that a cold wave was lost somewhere between here and the northwest.

It evidently made good time when it struck the track again.

Here are some furs that have been waiting for it.

The illustration shows one of them—a handsome flat Scarf of River Mink, lined with squirrel for $8.50.

A cheaper scarf, but an excellent value at the price, is a Wool Seal at $2.98. Full size with 6 tails. Very pretty Isabella and Sable Opossum Cluster scarfs with 6 nice tails $3.98. We purchased them underprice or they'd cost you $5.00. Fox scarfs are fashionable this season. We have four grades of American Fox, with 2 brush tails, $7.50, $10.00, $12.50, and $15.00.

We think ourselves fortunate this winter in having such an especially good value in an Isabella or Sable flat fox stole at $12.50. Lined with squirrel, 6 large bushy tails finished with cord, tassel and silk ornaments. The tassel is finished with tails to match the end of the fur.

New styles in fur sets of Gray and White striped Fox, lined with Satin $35.00 per set.

Fur styles may come and go, but genuine Black Marten always holds its own because its one of the most useful furs that one can get.

Handsome Scarfs for $37.50 flat shape, full length, finished with a cord and tassel and lined with satin.

They are Scarfs that our Fur buyer secured at especially low prices—You'll likely see them or something similar, marked $50.00 elsewhere.

Other furs here from the lowest priced imitations at $1.00 that are worth anything up to the genuine seal article at $100.00.

Social and Personal

The Thanksgiving holidays at the Woman's Club will be signified by the appearance of the late Mrs. M. Sully, of New York, who will give a recital Friday evening, November 20th, at 8 o'clock, Mrs. J. A. Letroy being chairman of the evening.

Miss Sully's programme will comprise selections from Shakespeare, Gabriel d'Annunzio, Edmund Rostand and other famous authors, as well as Greek statue impersonations. Specially attractive musical features will be directed by Miss Louise Williams.

PROGRAMME.

- I. Recitation, A Pair of Lunatics. Selected.
- II. Recitation—Musical Accompaniment. The Soul of the Violin. Selected.
- III. Comedy Monologue. Selected.
- IV. Scene from Francesca da Rimini. Selected.
- V. Money Musk. Selected.

I. Grecian Pantomime Dance—"The Rose," "Daphne." Adapted from Genevieve Stebbins.

II. Greek Statue Impersonations, "The Neobades."

Miss Sully during her visit to Richmond will be at Mrs. Duval's, where she will spend the holidays with her friend and pupil, Miss Gibbons. She is now assistant director at the New York School of Expression, where she graduated in the class of 1898. She appeared in the role of Shylock, from the Merchant of Venice, on that occasion, and won warm commendation from such noted critics as Nelson Wheatcroft and William H. Fleming.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Raab announce the engagement of their daughter, Emily, to Mr. A. Hammel, of Milwaukee, Wis. Miss Raab is a social leader in the Jewish society and well known for her literary attainments. Mr. Hammel is a capitalist and prominent in society of Milwaukee, Wis.

Mr. R. Lin Cave, of Atlanta, Ga., has issued cards of invitation to the marriage of his daughter, Ella Hartley, to Mr. Ernest Hunter Tallaferr, of Baltimore, Md., the wedding to be celebrated November 24th at 8 o'clock P. M. in West End Church, Atlanta.

The bride is of a prominent Kentucky family, her father having been until recently president of Kentucky University.

Mr. Tallaferr was formerly of Richmond, Va., and is now in the service of the United States custom service and very popular socially, he is the grandson of the late Andrew Evans, whose name is prominently identified with Petersburg. The marriage ceremony will be performed Wednesday evening, December 23d, at half-past 8 o'clock, in the home of the bride's mother at Suffolk.

Mrs. John Edward Booker, of Suffolk, Va., has sent out cards for the approaching marriage of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Scott Booker, to Mr. John Spooner Epps, of Petersburg.

Miss Booker is well known in Richmond, where she frequently visited her aunt, Mrs. Charles M. Boswell, and been much admired. Her father, the late hon. John E. Booker, was prominent in journalism and politics, and one of the most popular men in Virginia.

Mr. Epps, who is in the United States custom service and very popular socially, he is the grandson of the late Andrew Evans, whose name is prominently identified with Petersburg. The marriage ceremony will be performed Wednesday evening, December 23d, at half-past 8 o'clock, in the home of the bride's mother at Suffolk.

Under the most favorable auspices the Grace Church School of Arts has embarked upon its fourth year, and in its endeavor to keep pace with the times it has introduced new features, new classes and new teachers.

Special attention is being paid to the classes in head-work, basketry, pyrography, and wood-carving.

The shirtwaist class of last year, cutting, fitting and making shirtwaists, will soon be in operation and promises to be one of the most popular of them all.

For all classes the most competent teachers have been secured, and all interested in such work are cordially invited to call at the school, on Foushee Street, between Main and Franklin, each Saturday from 11 until 1, and watch the progress of those engaged.

The Emma Andrews Whist Club will meet at Mrs. Charles Avenport's, on West Franklin Street this afternoon at half-past 4 o'clock.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. R. N. Short, of Atlanta City, N.

HE SAYS IT IS NOT ORTHODOX

Southern Churchmen Condemn the Sunday School Leaflet System.

The orthodoxy of a recently issued Sunday-school leaflet, for use in the Episcopal Sunday-schools, has been called into question by a layman, writing to the Southern Churchman, of this city, and the denominational organ declares the point to be well taken.

The leaflet was for the twenty-first Sunday after Trinity, and it touches the property of prayers, the saints and for the dead, which is in direct conflict with the doctrine of the Church. The Richmond paper declares that negatively, but most decidedly and clearly, the Church has pronounced against both prayers to saints and prayers for the dead. As to the leaflet referred to and quoted, it is merely the irresponsible vagary of an individual and the Church has nothing whatever to do with it. As to the Scripture references, it is very evident that they have no bearing whatever on the questions under discussion. Then the Churchman adds:

"And, in this connection, we would like to call the attention of all our readers to this 'Lesson Leaflet' system of teaching in our Sunday-schools. The whole system is without authority of any sort or kind, the reflex of the opinions of a few men, and not responsible to any higher power in the Church anywhere. The 'Leaflets' may or may not be safe and trustworthy; it depends entirely upon the soundness and ability and right judgment of the author or editor. But we repeat, the Church is in no wise responsible for anything they teach."

"The Church's text-books for the Bible and the prayer book, and for this teaching alone does she stand responsible."

RENEW THE FIRST GRADE CERTIFICATE

Hon. Frank T. West, of Louisiana, offered in the House yesterday the following bill, which will be of interest to school teachers:

It shall be lawful for the division superintendent of schools of any city, county or division, to renew, at his discretion, the first-grade certificate of the teacher who has taught ten years in the public free schools of Virginia, and who has held a first-grade certificate for five years previous to the said renewal; provided, however, that the State Board of Education shall have power to require an examination of the holders of such renewal certificates on such new subjects as the said State Board of Education may require for a first-grade certificate.

HIS EYE KNOCKED OUT WHILE CHOPPING WOOD

Rev. S. S. Robinson, pastor of the Baptist Church at Waverly, Va., last night brought his little son here for treatment by Dr. John Dunn.

The little boy was chopping some wood at school yesterday, by request of his teacher, when the axe he broke and a piece struck him in the right eye, knocking it out.

McGuire Monument

The pedestal of the monument to Dr. Hunter McGuire to be erected near the Stonehill Jackson statue, in the Capitol Square, will soon be placed. Excavating was begun yesterday. The site was selected by a special committee of members of the Hunter McGuire Monument Association in conjunction with the Governor.

The statue of Dr. McGuire will soon be ready, and the unveiling is likely to take place shortly before the Christmas holidays.

Mr. James L. Wilson, an old Atlanta man, is in the city. Mr. Wilson has many friends here, who gave him the glad hand. His headquarters are in Baltimore.

ANIMAL STORIES FOR OUR BOYS AND GIRLS

The Sagacious Turkey.

Sambo was very fond of turkey that one night when he found an old gobbler perched on top of a fence he just picked him up and started for home.

"Won't you make me a good meal?" said Sambo.

"You are too old and tough," declared the gobbler.

"Oh, well," said Sambo, "you are better than nothing."

"But why should you eat me when you can get plenty of nice, young, tender turkeys?" asked the gobbler.

"How?" inquired Sambo, who began to think this old gobbler was all bones anyway.

"If you put me back on the fence all the young turkeys will come around to ask me where I have been and what I have seen," said the gobbler. "For they think I have simply taken a trip for my health. When they gather around me you can run up and seize two or three of them."

"I guess I'll put you back," said Sambo, who thought the gobbler's scheme was a very good one.

So the wary old gobbler was put back on the fence and Sambo hid behind a post to wait for the tender young turkeys.

But, mercy me! What do you think? The little turkeys had all been told by their parents that old Mr. Gobbler had been killed and eaten, and when they saw him again perched on the fence they simply believed he was a ghost, and they took to their heels as fast as they could.

And Mr. Gobbler? Well, he winked at Sambo and slid down on the other side of the fence and went home.

And Sambo? He ate corn cakes and dried bacon for dinner.

JUSTICE JOHN DISCHARGED SHULTS

Jacob Schieriff Waived Examination and Went to Hastings Court—Stone Fined.

Justice Crutchfield dismissed H. E. Shults in the Police Court yesterday. He was charged with embezzling $20, the property of J. H. Barrow, but no one appeared to push the charge.

Shults represents a publishing house, and was charged with obtaining the money from Barrow in payment for an outfit, the latter having accepted the agency here.

The case of Jankee Jarow, alias Jacob Schieriff, was at last disposed of, so far as the Police Court is concerned, after having been postponed a number of times.

Schieriff is a lady's tailor well known here. He is charged with having seduced his wife in far-away Kansas, and with having married again without obtaining a divorce. He denies that such is a fact, and says he has been separated from his first wife a number of years.

Since he came from her foreign home to prosecute him, Mr. L. O. Wendenburg represents Mrs. Schieriff, and Smith, Moncure and Gordon the defendant. Examination was waived and the case was certified to the Hastings Court, and Schieriff was bailed for his appearance in that court on December 7th.

Adolph Emmons and Isaac Taylor, two small boys, were whipped by their parents for taking coal from the Chesapeake and Ohio.

John Stone, a young Manchester man, was fined $2.50 and costs on the charge of engaging in a fight with A. J. Warren. The latter was discharged.

A small number of drunks were disposed of.

Charters Granted.

The following charters have been granted by the State Corporation Commission: The Bank of Elkton, Elkton; James E. Lebeck, capital stock, $20,000.

BIG ROBBERY AT THE GLOBE STORE

Entrance Effected Through Rear Window—Insufficient Police Protection.

Headquarters detectives and the police of the Second District have been worried considerably recently over the working of what seems to be an organized gang of thieves.

Several small robberies have been reported, and the most vigilance has been exercised to capture them. Owing to the fact that the detail of men on each relief is small, the work is of necessity difficult. With a big district to cover, and with such a small number of men at command, it seems easy enough to watch the police and to go about their work in a systematic way.

The boldest of the robberies reported recently was that of the safe and desk at the Globe clothing store, at Seventh and Broad Streets, early yesterday morning. What was done by the thieves could have been easily done in ten minutes.

Two policemen cover the territory in that immediate vicinity. At the time of the robbery two of the best men on the force were on their beats in that section, Officers Clarkson and Bryant. The latter's beat extended from Fourth to Ninth Streets, on Broad, with half a block either way on the side streets. Officer Clarkson covered the territory on Main, between Sixth and Thirteenth, with the space intersecting with Officer Bryant's beat south of Broad.

With all this territory to cover, the officers could have been easily watched by the thieves.

At any rate, entrance was effected by way of a rear window, facing the alley in the rear of the big clothing store. This window is about eight feet from the ground, and must have been entered by a "hooray" up or by a ladder. No convenient ladder has been found, and it is believed that the man who entered the window was helped up by a confederate.

After gaining entrance into the store the thief opened the safe, which had not been securely locked, and abstracted about $250 in bills. A lot of checks were scattered about on the floor. Then the drawer of the cashier's desk was forced open, and about $10 in new pennies was taken. Other small change was left in the drawer. So far, nothing else is missing.

The theory of the police is that the thief who did the inside work was far from with the location of the safe, and with the combination.

Up to a late hour last night no arrests had been made.

BARTON HEIGHTS.

The game of football yesterday evening at Chestnut Hill between the Barton Heights and the Chestnut Hill teams was won by the latter by the score of 10 to 0. The features of the game were the play of P. Williams and Crovo, of the Barton Heights team, and Henley, Todd and Lane, of the Chestnut Hill boys.

PHI BETA KAPPAS GET TOGETHER

Committee is Named to Arrange for a State Convention.

At a meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa held last night in the rooms of the Virginia Historical Society, Judge B. R. Wellford presiding, a committee was appointed to consider arrangements for a State convention of Phi Beta Kappas to be held here.

This committee consisted of Mr. P. F. Jones, Professor Foushee, of Richmond College; Professor H. W. Williams, of Mary and Mr. Robert W. Hughes, of Norfolk. A report will be made hereafter to a meeting to be called by Judge Wellford.

It was also decided to form a permanent Richmond organization. Of this Judge Wellford was elected chairman and Mr. Plummer F. Jones secretary.

Judges Named.

Governor Montague yesterday designated Mr. J. C. Crovo, of the Corporation Court of Manchester, to hold the next term of the Circuit Court of New York, and Mr. J. C. Crovo, of Blackstone, and Judge W. W. Moffit, of Salem, to hold the November term of the County Court of Bedford in the place of Judge Calloway Brown, deceased.

The Rev. J. W. Mitchell, of the Religious Herald, is in Athens, Ga., attending the State Baptist Association. He will return home on Saturday.

DAILY FASHION HINTS

LADIES' COSTUME.

The design shown here combines two features which are now very much in vogue, that of the circular sleeve cap and that of the draped effect in waist and skirt, which carries out the season's fancy of trimming the pleats with braid. In the bodice shown here, the lining in the yoke and sleeve may be cut away under a transparent yoke and sleeve or the lining may be of a different color. The waist has the back closing, the body portion being laid in pleats to yoke depth, or if so desired, may extend to the shoulder and leave the yoke out entirely. The waist is supported by a fitted lining and blouses very prettily over a narrow crush belt.

The skirt (6063) is the newest seven-gored shaping, and may be made with regular or lapped seams, and in dip, round or instep length. Additional style is given the skirt by an underpleat at the lower part of each side seam.

A charming costume would be of brown baize, using brown or black braid for decoration and making the yoke and undersleeve of cream or white mull or lawn. This combination is particularly smart and the full lower sleeve falling as it does from the circular upper portion which is slashed part of the way to the shoulder, is exceedingly pretty.

The mode is suitable to any of the pleated materials and will be found a desirable model for either house or street wear.

Sizes for waist 6070-22, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44-inch bust measure. Sizes for skirt 6063-22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34-inch waist measurement.

On receipt of 10 cents this pattern will be sent to any address. All orders must be directed to THE LITTLE FOLKS PATTERN CO., 78 Fifth Avenue, New York. When ordering, please do not fail to mention number.

Kerosene Engine.

Of all power producing engines that inventive genius and mechanical skill have been enabled to produce, there are none that so nearly reach the acme of human ingenuity and perfection as the International Kerosene Engine for a most every purpose where power is required.

The engines are the most simple of construction, have few parts, less complicated, and produce more power for their size than any other engine ever constructed.

They need less attention, are less liable to get out of order and cheaper to run than any other engine ever put upon the market.

One of these engines now running a pump in Buckingham county, Va., at an expense of 20c per day, causing no trouble or delay. Address:
